

A photograph of a squirrel sitting on a tree branch, looking towards the camera. The squirrel has brown and grey fur. The background is a blurred forest scene with green leaves and tree trunks.

...may 24, 1986...

i am no more with you –
and no less
that i ever was standing invisibly
beyond your voice –

occasionally you catch a subtle buzz
and shake your head
as if i was an insect
circling your ears –

frequently your hand reaches up
to brush away loose hair as if i was a tickle of the air –

but i am there with you and you are here with me – and – whether or not we believe or dis-believe we interact between realities.

©pamela swanson
www.poetpam.com