

The background of the entire image is a photograph of two small birds, possibly house finches, standing on a snowy or icy ground. The birds have dark brown heads and backs with a lighter, reddish-brown underbelly. They are surrounded by scattered yellow and green seeds or small pieces of food. The text is overlaid on the right side of the image in a white, semi-transparent box.

...october 28, 1991...

you said good night
i said good day –
i said hello
you said good bye –

it was enough –
no more – no less –
the past is past
and we progress –

you go your way –
i go mine –
we have outgrown
nursery rhymes.

©pamela swanson
www.poetpam.com