

...april 18, 1991...

you talk of crystal lanterns and rainbow rooms and travel while outside window clatter in juvenile crowds –

you talk of black belt tunnels and faces grown old –
till conversations wither to skies that know no stars –

we are all still waiting some undetermined hour
until our secret royalty will be – at last – unveiled.

©pamela swanson
www.poetpam.com