

...october 18, 2003...

i touch a brittle leaf
transforming autumn
into gold –

veins grow sharp –
translucent –
sun and rain– and then

it splits and falls –
fragmenting gently –
gradually

into the more
that death
becomes.

©pamela swanson
www.poetpam.com