

...november 17, 2008...

faster and faster and faster i spin deeper and deeper and deeper within wider and higher than ever before spiralling outside of ceiling and floor - larger and huger yet taking no space gathering in and leaving behind above and beyond - encompassing time - bluntly exploding the all that i am into something colossal - until i disperse galaxies out of each exhaled breath - till the earth becomes child and i have become a universe birthing the infant i am.

©pamela swanson
www.poetpam.com