

A close-up photograph of a meadow. The foreground is filled with tall, thin grasses, some green and some brown. Scattered throughout are numerous bright yellow dandelion flowers and their white, fluffy seed heads. The background is a soft-focus field of similar vegetation under a bright sky.

...august 11, 2011...

*a thousand brilliant dandelions wander in the sun –
a thousand more in bearded white scatter into winds –*

*the motor wings of hummingbirds vibrate harmonies
where dragonflies flash in and through immeasurable worlds –*

*the evening shimmers liquid gold – coating grass and trees
while shadows stretch the meadows into ghosts of make believe.*

©pamela swanson
www.poetpam.com