

...november 12, 2011...

all saints day – day of the dead –
the advent of all hallows eve rooted into centuries
of archetypal memory –

the honoring – remembering – a day of cellular recall – the armageddon of a people that we wrap in fantasy –

tsunami – earthquakes – hurricanes oceans – fire – earth and air – continents submerged – atlanteans buried in mythology –

only earth deep memories recall the once of once upon impinging on our consciousness as they have returned to us –

they are we and we are they – retracing ancient histories – in growing up to grow beyond that fractured day atlantis died.

©pamela swanson
www.poetpam.com