granville to fourth avenue
then broadway oak and back again –
strange familiar overlaps of cities – faces – continents –

wagons – horses – buses – bikes in layers of reflected lives –
a here of then and then of here connecting to some other where –

a single moment overflows through an eternity of nows with cobbled streets and pavement blocks stumbling beneath my feet –

i watch a patch of sunlight kiss a corner tree through dual eyes smiling a pale sky
to melt me into another me's –

granville to fourth avenue
then broadway oak and back again –
i am threaded – inside out – beyond the myths of time and space.
