

...november 1, 2012...

last night you visited – today you left – still tangling the sheets in wayward thoughts –

we talked our deep into the raining black joining with the ghosts of hallows eve –

then we woke to honour distant saints with candles floating windowsills of rain – and then you left – we disconnect again spinning into separate histories.

©pamela swanson
www.poetpam.com

