

...july 21, 2017...

i have a candle burning by the window balcony diminishing the darkness of flowered greenery –

reminding me of how one flame can penetrate the dark glimmering a golden light of auric quietness –

recalling friends of yesteryear like candles of the heart shimmering the memories that cradle me in thought.

©pamela swanson
www.poetpam.com

