

A snowman is the central focus, constructed from three snowballs. It wears a bright red cone-shaped hat. Its face is decorated with two dark brown buttons for eyes, a red button for a nose, and a blue button for a mouth. The snowman is holding a bouquet of several bright yellow sunflowers in its right arm. To the right, a human hand in a light blue sleeve is visible, reaching towards the snowman. The background is a light-colored wall with shadows of bare tree branches cast upon it. The ground is covered in snow with some green plants peeking through.

i love this visitor of rare –
this diamond sun that blues the sky awakening my bleary eyes to colour densities again –

i laugh as shadows disappear from pavement walks and barren trees till yellows greens and red eclipse the fading realms of yesterday –

i am this day that grows my skin into the wonders that surround spiraling a universe
into each undulating breeze.
