let's pretend that we are free of pseudo-scientific lies to realize that birds and bees and creatures are a part of us –

let's pretend that doctors are again the healers they once were – pretending they have studied health instead of pushing drugs and death –

let's pretend our governments aren't controlling anything as we become self-ruling communities of truth and love –

let's pretend we recognize the vastness of our ignorance – joining with oceans plains and trees to be a world-consciousness –

let pretend again again the children of our world are free instead of bound to brainwashing and masked in rules of memory –

let's pretend the world is peace and all humanity is love with nature as the palette brush that ripples us in living dreams.
