a rumi-poet reading day reminds me i'm a drop inside this most extraordinary ocean of a world –

i create the boundaries that shrink me to a name thinking i shall be this drop until it disappears –

true and not true – rumi states i'm ocean and the drop leaning to see from inside out foreverness in both –

i'm exploring shades of me in each eternal now until the ocean calls me back into infinity –

and living all I can explore inside this life i breathe – gradually – from outside in – the ocean becomes me.
